Domestic Violence Prevention – “I Dare to Air” Campaign

“Domestic violence occurs across all walks of life in Santa Clara County. Within our ethnic communities and communities of color, there are additional dynamics that make it more difficult for survivors to reach out for support. In some families, the notion to not ‘air our dirty laundry’ continues to reign. Without community support, survivors will continue to suffer and the effects of abuse will ripple across multiple generations.

“I Dare to Air” reveals the experiences of survivors from our local communities who have dared to speak out. By uplifting their struggles, we encourage the community to be more aware of the unique barriers these families face. By airing their triumphs, we support other survivors to speak their truths.”
Domestic Violence Prevention – “I Dare to Air” Campaign

“I will continue to tell them my story to let them know help is available. Nowadays, I am the owner of my life. Nobody says, ‘You have to do whatever I say because you are a wife, and if you do not, you deserved to be punished.’ I do not have bruises anymore.”
